AD 3

Dražen Lušić gave introduced the Symposium Organization including:

- Information regarding the establishment of the Scientific Committee

- Setting of the official Symposium including all necessary information such as: program, organization, dates and deadlines, themes and topics, presentation formats, accommodation, registration and booking process, conference facilities and transportation. Facebook profile is also activated.

The following institutions are pointed up as the Supporters of the Symposium:

- Ministry of Science, Education and Sports of the Republic of CROATIA;
- Ministry of Agriculture of the Republic of CROATIA;

- Opatija Tourist Office, CROATIA.

It was concluded that Symposium announcement and First call for Abstracts have been rather late so D. Lušić suggested to extend the deadline for the abstract submission. OC members supported this proposal.

Dražen Lušić suggested some major guidelines about the following Audit of Symposium facilities including the audit of hotel staying and accommodation conditions, other technical details (parking, dining, SPA, wellness,...), congress main hall and workshop rooms as well as technical equipment and support.

Proposed points were accepted and conclusion was taken that technical audit will begin on the following day starting at 11:00 hours.

It was stated that the topic of Symposium Round table is not yet defined therefore further preparation and materials should be prepared. Principal suggestion for the topic of the Round table was that it should be about the adulteration issues at the world market similar to the topic elaborated at the Apimondia Congress 2013 in Ukraine.

Audit included the follow up of the elements set by the point 4 of the Agenda. Congress staff gave full presentation of its facilities during the 4 hours tour. It was agreed that Symposium Organization Committee will have one particular room equipped with electronic tools for its separate meeting and needs. It will be also offered for various business meetings of the participants based on the previous reservation and “first asked, first served” principle.

Special attention was given to the Congress main hall and meeting rooms as well as the poster and exhibition area. Additionally, technical details (simultaneous translation, electronic equipment etc.) were also tackled in details thanks to the fact that at the time of audit, the 6th Croatian Psychiatric Congress has taken place within the same congress facilities.

Additional interest was given to the food and dining facilities planned for the organized IHC Symposium 2014 meals and coffee breaks.

Room and accommodation details were also checked during the audit mostly focused on the main congress facility of hotel 4 opatijska cvijeta.

However, it was noticed that the Symposium organizers have offered wide range of accommodation levels for the Symposium participants throughout the City of Opatija.

The final conclusion was that structural facilities presented, suits the need of the organization of the International Symposium on Bee Products, 3rd Edition as well as the Annual meeting of the International Honey Commission (IHC). WYWH!¹
